

Call for Coleman Prize 2010 Association of Business Historians

To be awarded at the ABH Annual Conference
16-17 July 2010, The York Management School

The Association of Business Historians invites submissions for consideration for the 2010 Coleman Prize. This prestigious prize is open to PhD dissertations in Business History either having a British subject or completed at a British University. All dissertations completed in the calendar years 2008 and 2009 are eligible (with the exception of previous submissions). The value of the prize is £200. Named in honour of the British Business Historian Donald Coleman, this prize is awarded annually by the Association of Business Historians to recognise excellence in new research in Britain. The Prize is now sponsored by Adam Matthew Publications Limited, a scholarly publisher which makes available original manuscript collections, rare printed books and other primary source materials in microform and electronic format. It is a condition of eligibility for the Prize that short-listed finalists present their findings at the Association's annual conference, to be held at the York Management School, 16-17 July 2010. For more information see <http://www.abh-net.org/>.

For consideration of your PhD dissertation, please send the title and a brief 300-word abstract to Dr. Stefan Schwarzkopf by 31 December 2009. A long-list of candidates will be requested to send hard copies of their thesis by 26 February 2009, from which a shortlist of finalists will be chosen.
